

SOUTH VANCOUVER FAMILY PLACE

(Vancouver Life Skills Society)

website: southvancouverfamilyplace.org

email: svfp@telus.net

Sept 28, 2011

To whom it may concern,

This letter is in regards to Bindu Sadder who is a volunteer with South Vancouver Family Place. Family Place is a not for profit social service agency that works with families with young children and has done so for the past 34 years.

Bindu originally was volunteering as a staff support at our offsite family drop-in program at Moberly Elementary. When we found out that she was also a graphic artist we asked her to consider designing two brochures for us as we needed to communicate our services in a more professional manner. We were really impressed with her portfolio and even more impressed with the patience and perseverance that she gave to this lengthy process of designing a brochure. Originally we thought it would take a month and a few emails to have a finished product. However all the staff and our board of directors got involved in the process so we were making changes for a number of months. We are really pleased with the end product and know that if we had asked anyone else to do this they would probably have given up on us!

She has been a wonderful volunteer and we hope that she will continue to be involved with our organization.

Yours Truly,

Sharon Babu,

Executive director